Speaking on the occasion, Mr. Sanjay Labroo, MD & C.E.O., AIS said -

“The financial performance of Q4 in particular and for the year 2009-10 as well, reflects the massive efforts put in by AIS to overcome the unexpected adversity which arose in 2008-09. I strongly feel that the worst is now behind us. The same is being reflected in the improved operating profits vis-à-vis sales. Both the consumer sectors of AIS - automotive and construction - are growing in the improved macro environment.

The automotive sector has done exceptionally well and AIS continued to deliver on the stringent requirements of automotive companies operating in India. During the period, AIS deepened relationships with its existing customers and also forged new long-lasting relationships. The float glass segment is off late, showing signs of improvements by streamlining production efficiencies and offering new and optimum mix of high value-added products. The architectural glass processing business also continues to look more promising.

2010-11 shall be a year of further improvements for AIS, when markets and fundamentals are changing. India is aiming towards ‘A New Horizon’ of generic growth and so is AIS.”
